

STREETSQUASH
HARLEM • NEWARK

2018 ANNUAL REPORT

StreetSquash's mission is to provide consistent, long-term, and reliable support to the children, families, and schools in Harlem and Newark. By exposing these children to a broad range of experiences and by maintaining the highest standards, StreetSquash aims to help each child realize his or her academic, athletic, and personal potential.

Elhadji Mare, StreetSquash Class of 2014, delivers the commencement address at his graduation from Trinity College in 2018.

TO THE STREETSQUASH COMMUNITY,

This September, we assumed the co-chair roles as part of the StreetSquash Board of Directors. In 19 years, the organization has had only three prior chairpeople: Jeff Laikind (StreetSquash Harlem, 1999-2008), Geoff Mitchell (StreetSquash Newark, 2011-2018) and Mitch Truwit (StreetSquash Harlem, 2009-2018). For those of you who know any of these three men, you will know that we have very big shoes to fill – so big, in fact, that it requires two of us to do the job!

As we reflect back on the last 19 years, we are in awe of all that has been accomplished:

- In 2005, the program graduated its first class of high school seniors
- In 2008, the $9 million SL Green StreetSquash Center opened on 115th Street
- In 2012, StreetSquash Newark launched as the organization's second program site
- In 2018, the program graduated its largest post-secondary cohort to date, with 20 participants earning degrees and certificates

For each of these major accomplishments, our previous chairpeople were present, leading the charge and helping to pave the way for the organization to evolve and develop into what it is today.

As we think about our involvement with StreetSquash, we feel tremendous pride for the organization. We are proud that every day, 29 full-time and 10 part-time staff work with 400 students and families between Harlem and Newark. We are proud that 100% of our students graduate from high school, and that almost every participant goes on to college. We are proud to have a robust alumni support program that allows our students to earn degrees at three times the national rate of students in the same demographic. And, perhaps most importantly, we are proud to be part of an organization that is about to celebrate 20 years of supporting participating students, families, and schools. It is undeniable that StreetSquash is endlessly committed to the communities in which it works, and we are grateful to all of our partners for believing in us, and for helping us to achieve our mission, year after year.

During our term as co-chairs, we will strive to push the organization in the same ways that the other leaders did before us. We plan to grow the support base, to increase awareness of StreetSquash's impact, and to provide ever-increasing opportunities for our program participants. We are proud to be part of this wonderful organization, and honored to have the chance to work with such talented students, families, and staff who have committed to making the StreetSquash experience a core part of their lives.

As you go through this report, we hope that you will take the time to get to know some of the people who are featured, and that you will share some of our outcomes with a friend, colleague, or neighbor, encouraging them to take a moment to celebrate the successes of our students and families. As always, we are grateful for your support, and look forward to another exceptional year at StreetSquash.

Kind Regards,

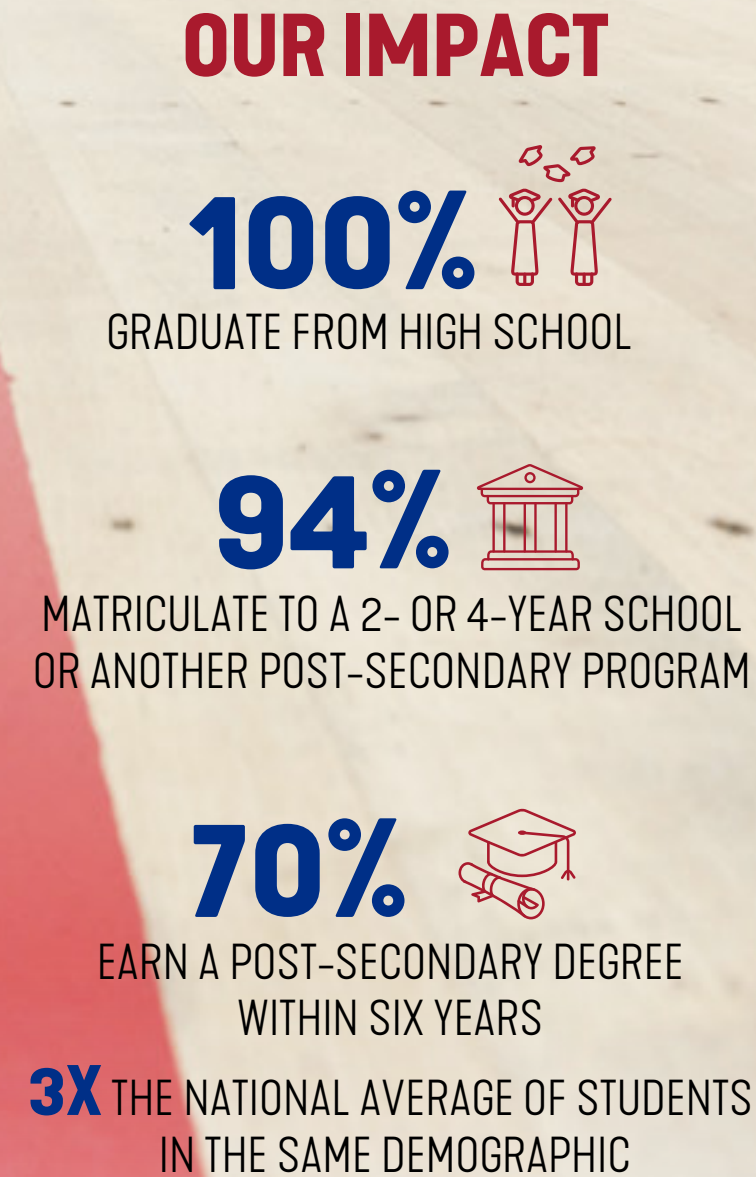

David Eun & Eric Muller
StreetSquash Board of Directors, Co-Chairs

ACADEMICS

Senior Academic Director Taralyn Gonzalez facilitates 475 hours of academic sessions per year.

During academic sessions, Taralyn, along with her colleagues and volunteers, ensures that students receive:

- Individualized tutoring
- State and standardized test preparation
- Personalized academic success plans

Outside of academic sessions, Taralyn and her colleagues conduct:

- Weekly school visits to meet with teachers and administrators
- Monthly check-ins with participants regarding personal and academic goals
- Bi-weekly communication with caregivers

Taralyn, an alumna of the first graduating class of StreetSquash, has worked with the organization since 2013. Taralyn also oversees the Diversity and Inclusion Initiative in Newark.

Zeinab, ranked #1 on the girls varsity ladder, practices four times a week with her team. During squash sessions, Zeinab and her teammates engage in:

- Skill-based drills
- Strategy training and match play
- Rigorous fitness designed to promote speed and agility
- Official referee training

Outside of her regular squash sessions, Zeinab participates in:

- US Squash-sanctioned tournaments
- League play through NY Squash and the FairWest leagues
- SEA’s High Performance Team, designed to promote squash excellence among participants within the Squash and Education Alliance network
- Weekly individualized coaching sessions

Zeinab joined StreetSquash in seventh grade. Since joining, Zeinab has competed twice at US Squash Silver Nationals, won four Urban Squash Individual National Titles, and is currently ranked in the top 50 in her age group.

STUDENT PROFILE

Na'Dree, Class of 2018

Making History in Newark's First-Ever Graduating Class

When Na'Dree joined StreetSquash as a seventh grader in 2012, the program was in its inaugural year in Newark, having launched as the first and only squash and education organization in New Jersey. The territory was uncharted, and the sport was completely unknown to most public school students. Nonetheless, StreetSquash set high expectations for its recruits: attend at least three weekly practices, display a strong commitment to academics, and travel to compete in matches and tournaments. Luckily, Na'Dree was never one to back down from a challenge.

In his first year, Na'Dree was drawn to squash for its intensity, but felt alone in his awe of the game. He tried to persuade his friends from school to try out, only to be met with another hurdle. "It was hard to explain what I was doing every day after school, because it's not a popular sport," Na'Dree reflects. Armed with an unrelenting positive attitude, Na'Dree eventually convinced his friends to join, telling them about the field trips, the engaging squash practices, and – most enticing of all – the snacks that were provided during homework sessions. For the first time, Na'Dree was a leader, establishing StreetSquash's partnership at his school and helping the organization grow.

As a result of his enthusiasm during his first years, Na'Dree received the 2014 StreetSquasher of the Year Award. Given to students who are maximizing their potential in all areas of the program – in the classroom, on the squash court, and through their character – this prestigious award honored the success that Na'Dree had demonstrated as a leader. He would go on to earn the award again while in high school, in addition to receiving the program's Leadership Award and Spirit Award, and holding the #1 position on his squash team.

Program Director Ana Farinha reflects on Na'Dree's enthusiasm for the program, and the ways in which his involvement permeated throughout his relationships in school and with others in the community. "It seemed as though everyone knew Na'Dree, and if they knew Na'Dree, they knew about StreetSquash," Ana muses. "He always seemed to want to improve the environment he was in, and with that he always wanted to see StreetSquash represented positively." When asked about his accolades, Na'Dree responds with modesty, citing his peers as his main motivator. "StreetSquash is more of a family to me than just a team," he shares. "It's not solely about yourself; you keep coming back to watch others' matches, support a friend, or coach your teammates. Being a part of all of that means a lot to me."

In 2017, Na'Dree had the opportunity to share his experience with the program as a student ambassador at the StreetSquash Newark Gala. He was struck by the expansive community that the organization had developed over the years, and recognized his role in helping to drive the program's growth and success. "The experience of being all dressed up and meeting people who believed in me was amazing," Na'Dree recalls with pride. "I was able to tell my story of captaining my team, and reaching my goals of applying to college."

Na'Dree graduated from University High School in the spring of 2018, and matriculated at Montclair State University in the fall. Though he leaves behind the after-school program as part of his daily routine, he has begun a new chapter of his involvement with StreetSquash. As a member of the first cohort of college students from the New Jersey site, Na'Dree is eager to remain involved with the program, and to lead the way for students who will follow in his footsteps. "StreetSquash sets you up to feel like you are valued, and that you can do something special, all because they believe in you," Na'Dree explains. "I want to help future StreetSquashers succeed by being another person who believes in them and shows them what is possible."

Shirley (second from right), with her peers from the Class of 2018. This year, 32 StreetSquash graduates matriculated to college, including 13 members of StreetSquash Newark's first-ever graduating class.

COLLEGE ACCESS

StreetSquash senior, Shirley, engages in college prep sessions for 120 minutes each week.

During her high school years, these sessions have included:

- Career Exploration (9th grade)
- College exposure through overnight campus visits, college fairs, and on-site information sessions with college admissions representatives (11th – 12th grades)
- Individualized ACT and SAT prep (11th–12th grades)
- One-on-one college research, application and financial aid counseling (11th – 12th grades)

Shirley boasted a 75% increase on her ACT, was accepted to eight colleges and universities, and earned 100% of her participation-based StreetSquash scholarship award. As a result of her dedication, Shirley received the StreetSquasher of the Year Award in 2018. Shirley matriculated at City College of New York in fall 2018.

COLLEGE SUCCESS & ALUMNI SUPPORT

Danny Cabrera graduated from StreetSquash in 2012, and went on to matriculate at Hobart and William Smith Colleges that fall. Throughout his time in college and during his transition into the workforce, Danny, along with all StreetSquash alumni, has received:

- College transition support through the Beginning College Program, a 5-week summer workshop to prepare first-year students for the expectations and realities of college life
- At least one on-campus visit during his first and third years
- Professional development opportunities hosted in partnership with companies such as Facebook, Goldman Sachs, and Yelp

Danny competed on Hobart's varsity squash team for four years and served as captain his senior year. Danny is now the Constituent Services Liaison & Community Coordinator for the Manhattan Borough President's Office, and continues to give back to StreetSquash through regular volunteering on court and in the classroom.

COLLEGE SUCCESS OUTCOMES

From StreetSquash to College Squash

Mawa graduated from Connecticut College in May 2018 with a degree in Government and Africana Studies. A varsity squash player holding the #1 position for three out of her four years, Mawa served on the athletics department's task force, worked in the college's fitness center, and used her academic skills to guide others as a peer mentor. Mawa also found time to participate in almost a dozen other extracurricular activities, from Dance Club, to the Black Student Union, to the Student Activities Council. When reflecting on her accomplishments, she thinks back on her time at StreetSquash. "Since I was a little kid, StreetSquash was there for me," Mawa shares. "By pushing me every day in squash and academics, the staff helped me accomplish so much more than I ever thought I would."

As a seventh grader, Mawa joined StreetSquash after realizing that her middle school soccer team might not be the right fit. In soccer, Mawa had an athletic outlet, but it was easy to feel lost out on the field. On the squash court, Mawa could still feel the support of a team, with the chance to shine on her own. "Squash was more natural for me," Mawa says of taking the chance on a new sport. "My parents wanted me to go to StreetSquash because they liked how close it was to where we live," Mawa shares. "Once I started with the program, they saw that it was much more than squash; the academics, college prep, summer camps, there were so many opportunities for me. They also saw that the staff always pushed me to do more, and my parents really liked that."

Over the next six years, Mawa excelled on the squash court, becoming one of the strongest players to come out of the program. Academically, she had always been at the top of her class, but became increasingly motivated to maintain a high GPA in order to become a competitive squash recruit for college. "StreetSquash helped me to see that I could take my squash to the next level, and compete beyond my time in the program," Mawa recalls. "My coaches had always talked about playing in college, and with their support, I knew that I could, too."

Mawa was relentless in pursuing her goal of attending a college where she could play squash, recognizing that gaining admission to one of her top choices would require her to perform not only on the court, but also in the classroom. "After a little while, I was taking advantage of every extra practice and tutoring session," Mawa recalled. "It would take so much to get me out of that building on 115th Street at the end of the night, because I just wanted to do more, and the staff were there to support me every step of the way."

As a senior, Mawa applied Early Decision and was accepted at Connecticut College, which would allow her to fulfill her goal of continuing her squash career at the collegiate level. In fall 2014, Mawa moved to New London, CT, applying the same determination and commitment to her studies and her squash training as she had throughout her time at StreetSquash. "Mawa had a vision, and once she decided what she wanted to do, there was no chance that anyone was going to stop her," Senior Director of College Success Assumpta Galang remarks. "She took advantage of every resource and opportunity that we offered, and was never shy about asking for help or reaching out when she needed assistance. She allowed the program to do its job, while being an equal partner to us, making sure that the path she chose was where she ended up."

Today, Mawa is a teaching intern at The Fessenden School in Newton, Massachusetts, and is an assistant for the school's squash teams. Mawa reflects on what she learned at StreetSquash, much of which helped her to arrive at her current position. "Squash connects you to a lot of worlds, and it's amazing to see all of the different opportunities that you can reach when you take advantage of what is there," Mawa reflects. "My hope for future StreetSquash students is that they will see all that the program has to offer, and that they will set their sights high, like I did. StreetSquash is there to help students exceed their goals, and as long as the students are willing to work hard, StreetSquash will have their backs."

SOCIAL WORK

Sasha Diamond-Lenow oversees the Social Work department at StreetSquash, with a goal to address social-emotional and mental health needs for participants and families. Sasha, along with her colleagues and Masters of Social Work interns, facilitates:

- Individual counseling with a focus on building healthy relationships and developing social-emotional wellness
- Group counseling sessions to develop emotional intelligence
- Parent Journey, a 12-week program to help caregivers build stronger families, develop life skills, and foster resource networks
- Family Leadership Board meetings for caregivers to connect with one another and share feedback
- Partnerships with housing and financial support systems to provide access for participants

Sasha has worked at StreetSquash since 2010. During her tenure with the program, Sasha has grown the Social Work Department to include a program-wide curriculum, two full-time social workers, and four MSW interns.

COMMUNITY & LEADERSHIP

Fatou, Class of 2018, served as a Team Representative on the Student Leadership Council with nine of her high school peers. Members of the SLC act as leaders for the student body, and serve as ambassadors of the organization. Fatou, along with the Student Leadership Council, championed a number of community initiatives, including:

- Peer-to-peer mentoring to offer guidance and support to middle school students
- Service learning projects to promote community engagement
- Participation in community meetings with the NYPD’s Neighborhood Coordinating Officers to maintain a positive connection with the community

Fatou joined StreetSquash in 2011 as a sixth-grader, and has since immersed herself in every aspect of StreetSquash programming. In addition to serving on the SLC, Fatou competed regionally with the Elite Squad, captained her team by leading practice sessions, assisted at fundraising events such as the StreetSquash Cup, and volunteered in middle school sessions to support the program’s younger students.

COMMUNITY & LEADERSHIP INITIATIVES

Fatou reflects on her StreetSquash experience among her SEA peers while at her final Urban Individual Nationals Tournament in June 2018.

CULTURAL EXPOSURE

Quinlan joined StreetSquash in 2012 as a seventh-grader, and has since become one of the program's most dedicated student-athletes. Through maintaining excellent attendance and modeling positive behavior, Quinlan, along with every other StreetSquasher, is eligible to participate in:

- Intensive, high-quality summer educational opportunities at elite boarding schools in the Northeast
- International service learning projects
- Pre-college programs at Brown University, Columbia University, the University of Rochester, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute

In addition to studying at Phillips Exeter Academy's rigorous summer program, Quinlan has played #1 on the StreetSquash ladder throughout his high school career, and regularly volunteers with his younger peers at StreetSquash.

CULTURAL EXPOSURE RESULTS

STREETSSQUASH CHAMPIONS

Ron Kamdem has been a driving force in the growth and development of the StreetSquash Young Leadership Committee since he first became involved with the program in 2011. Ron, who currently serves as the Co-Chair of the Young Leadership Committee (YLC), was introduced to StreetSquash during a New York Squash league match at the Harvard Club of New York. Ron was competing against StreetSquash participant Floyd Perkins, a skilled player who moved across the court with grace and tenacity. Impressed by Floyd's composure and maturity, Ron sought to learn more about the young adult, and soon thereafter was introduced to StreetSquash. From that moment on, Ron was eager to become involved with the Harlem-based program.

"From the second I stepped into the StreetSquash Center, I was captivated by the environment around me," Ron recalls of his first session at StreetSquash. Initially, Ron began volunteering as a squash coach, facilitating drills and playing games with newcomers to the sport. "Working with the kids on court was always exciting to me. It struck the perfect balance of having an impact on young adults, building lasting relationships, and overcoming challenges together." Continuously impressed with StreetSquash's model and the opportunity to serve students at scale, Ron joined the StreetSquash Young Leadership Committee in an effort to dedicate more than just his time to the program.

Since joining the YLC, and through Ron's leadership and support from like-minded peers on the committee, the YLC has doubled in membership size and has nearly tripled its proceeds raised from fundraisers and events. "Ron is the heart and soul of the StreetSquash YLC," says Development Manager Julie Warshaw, who has worked with Ron and the YLC over the last four years. "He has his finger on the pulse of every aspect of the organization – from the courts, to the classroom, to the boardroom – Ron is one of StreetSquash's greatest ambassadors."

After seven years of fundraising on behalf of the organization, recruiting countless new members to the YLC, and spearheading new events, Ron has set an important tone for the rest of the young professionals to follow. Through his continued initiative on the YLC, and his unwavering commitment to both the students and the organization, Ron has inspired his peers to become increasingly engaged with the organization. "This past year has been our best yet," Ron affirms, "and it can only be attributed to a great group of young professionals that want to have a meaningful impact on the students in Harlem."

Geoff with daughter, Chloe (middle), and wife, Bernadette, who have made a family tradition of getting involved with StreetSquash.

STREETSSQUASH CHAMPIONS

Geoff Mitchell has been a champion of StreetSquash since he first became involved in 2011, when Executive Director George Polsky decided that it was time to expand the program beyond its New York City roots. Newark, New Jersey, less than an hour away from Harlem, had obvious potential for youth development programming as a city where only 10% of residents hold a Bachelor's degree. George knew he would have to call on someone with a passion for sharing the game and a deep connection to the squash community to help launch StreetSquash's second site. Enter Geoff Mitchell.

Geoff was introduced to squash as a high-schooler in Canada after seeing some top juniors play at a local YMCA. He was hooked, and went on to play competitively, securing rankings as high as #1 in his age group. Choosing to make squash his full-time career, Geoff established a successful junior program as head squash professional at the Chatham Club. "Geoff is such a beloved figure in the squash community, I knew he was the best to call because I could rely on him to help bring together people and resources to make sure this program was a success," George says of the squash professional. "He hit the ground running, hosting events to raise local awareness of the program and to get people interested," George reflects. "It was so much more than his incredible amount of squash experience that helped get StreetSquash Newark off the ground; his investment was genuine and his energy was contagious."

Geoff rallied the New Jersey squash community around the shared goal of exposing public school students in Newark to meaningful support and opportunities that they would not have had otherwise. With the organization's success in Harlem providing a blueprint, Geoff opened the doors for Newark's program – literally, and figuratively. What started with Geoff's generosity to StreetSquash in lending court time at the Chatham Club developed into serving as the founding board chair, a role that he held for six years. Toward the end of his tenure, Geoff was presented the United States Olympic Committee National Coach of the Year Award, with the committee citing his work with StreetSquash as a key factor in his selection for the accolade.

Geoff reflects on his time with StreetSquash fondly. "It's amazing to see what the program has accomplished through the hard work of dedicated staff, wonderful students and families, and a great board," he shares. "Newark serves as a beacon of hope and inspiration for other squash programs and communities." That said, Geoff remains excited for the program's future, especially with a permanent home base on the horizon. "It's been my dream to have a facility for the students in Newark, and I am so excited for them to have their own space to establish themselves as scholars, athletes, and leaders; a space that feels like home."
